Prayer

Lord our God, just as the rain comes down to water the earth and make it fruitful, so you send forth your word to do your will in the world. May this wisdom from heaven take root in our hearts and bear fruit in holy words and loving deeds. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Conversation Questions

How does our family show our love for God?
How does our family show our love for our neighbors, both near to us and not known to us?

Faith in Action

Show God your great love for him by taking your child to visit Jesus Christ in the Blessed Sacrament or attending a weekday Mass. Show love for your neighbor by visiting someone who might be lonely, preparing a meal for someone in need, or performing another act of personal service. Involve your child if possible. Afterward, reflect on the experience together—allow your child to express his or her thoughts on how the actions correspond to what Jesus asks of us in today's Gospel. Give thanks and praise to God for the grace to be his compassion in the world.

Did you know?

...that in the First Letter of John, God is identified as Love?
"God is love, and whoever remains in love remains in God and God in him" (1 John 4:16). The original Greek in which this letter was written uses the word agape for love. Agape is a type of love that can be described as a pure self-gift to another.

The Thirtieth Sunday in Ordinary Time

REFLECTIONS

By Bishop Christian

There is a story about a travelling salesman who was assigned to work in a rural area. One day he came upon a farmer sitting in a rocking chair on the porch of a rundown house. After introducing himself, the salesman launched into an eloquent pitch about his product. He said, "Sir, I have a remarkable book for you. It describes how you can farm your land ten times better than you're doing now." The farmer continued to rock. Then, after a long pause, he replied, "Young fella, I know how to farm ten times better than I'm doing now. My problem is doing it." The story reminds me of St. Paul's famous self-indictment in his letter to the Romans (7:19) when he writes, "The things I want to do I don't do and the things I don't want to do I do." We are all like the farmer and St. Paul at times. We leave undone the things we should do. We let opportunities for doing good pass us by. We sin, not so much by what we do, but by what we don't do. It's not so much that we do evil, but that we don't do the good we can and should. We can be like the rich man in the gospel who doesn't harm the poor beggar lying at his door, but is condemned for not helping him when he could easily have done so. At the last judgement scene in the Gospel of St. Matthew, people are condemned not for what they did, but for what they didn't do, e.g. feeding the hungry, clothing the naked and so forth. Each day the Lord provides us with opportunities to bring peace, love, mercy and many forms of help into the world. Often those opportunities are once in a lifetime occasions because if we let them pass we don't get a chance at them again. Let us pray for the grace to do what we can, when we can so that we don't leave undone what the Lord expects of us.

Brief History of the Rosary

Patrice Fagnant-MacArthur

October has long been the month dedicated to the Rosary. Pope St. Pius V established the feast of Our Lady of the Rosary (October 7th) in 1573 to thank God for the victory of Christians over the Turks at Lepanto, a victory attributed to the praying of the rosary. Pope Clement XI expanded the feast to the universal Church in 1716. The dedication of the entire month to this devotion was officially established by Pope Pius XII in 1884. While devotion to this prayer form waned a bit in the years immediately after Vatican II, interest in this long-practiced devotion is experiencing a resurgence as the faithful rediscover the beauty and spiritual benefit of this meditative practice. The name “rosary” comes from the Latin “rosarium” which means “rose garden.” A rosary is widely considered a gift of roses to Our Blessed Mother in heaven.

The rosary has had a long history and gone through many stages of development. The use of prayer beads actually precedes the time of Christ. Hindus used them to help keep track of prayers said throughout the day. In the Christian tradition, early monastic orders would pray the 150 psalms daily. At first they would use 150 pebbles in a small pouch in order to keep track. This later developed into a string with 150 knots and finally a rope with 150 wooden beads. Members of the laity who did not necessarily know the psalms by heart wanted to have a comparable version of this practice and so the tradition of praying 150 “Our Fathers” each day was born. A similar string of beads was used to keep track of this as well. In time, the “angelic salutation” of Gabriel was added before each “Our Father”: “Hail Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with you.” Later on, Elizabeth’s greeting was added to this: “Blessed are you among women.” Still later, the prayer of “Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners now and at the hour of our death” was added and the “Hail Mary” as we know it was developed.

Meanwhile, in the year 1214, Mary appeared to St. Dominic and encouraged him to spread devotion to the rosary. She promised him that if he did so, he would be successful in converting the Albigensians and that his religious order that he founded would prosper. He spent the rest of his life encouraging others to pray the Rosary and founded a Rosary Confraternity to aid in this task. One hundred years later, Blessed Alan de la Roche picked up where Dominic’s work had ended. He divided the rosary into 10 “Hail Mary” decades preceded by the “Our Father.” In the 15th century, the mysteries of the rosary were assigned to each of the decades. This gave people an opportunity to reflect on Scripture while offering up this meditative prayer. In 1917, Our Lady appeared to three young shepherd children in Fatima, Portugal. She declared herself to be “Our Lady of the Rosary” and repeatedly urged the children to recite the rosary daily.

In more recent times, Pope John XXIII taught that the Rosary must have a threefold purpose: “mystical contemplation, intimate reflection, and pious intention.” On October 16, 2002, Pope John Paul II added a new set of five mysteries to the rosary. Known as the “Luminous Mysteries” or “The Mysteries of Light,” they focus on Jesus’ public ministry. In his apostolic letter “The Rosary of the Virgin Mary”, he wrote that “The rosary, though clearly Marian in character, is at a heart a Christ-centered prayer. It has all the depth of the gospel message in its entirety. It is an echo of the prayer of Mary, her perennial Magnificat for the work of the redemptive Incarnation which began in her virginal womb.”
